Department Profile (2012-13 to 2018-19)

1. Introduction

The Department of Ancient History and Archaeology, established in the year 1996 is actively engaged in the reconstruction and interpretation of the cultural materials of Karnataka. In order to accomplish this task, the department has undertaken various projects to collect the basic source materials that are needed in the reconstruction of the past of Karnataka. For over a decade, the department has focused its attention to cover the northern part of Karnataka, and later extended it to all parts of Karnataka through village-to-village survey to collect primary data comprising of archaeological materials like prehistoric tools, historic materials like pottery, structures, objects of archaeological importance, temples, inscriptions, sculptures, and other similar objects. The data collected thus are put in a scientific manner, which would be of immense use to the future researchers. Being honored with effective membership in the Development Authority, our department is extending necessary professional consultancy and expertise in anticipation and on demand to accomplish for the Authority wholesome projects in protection of Hampi heritage.

2. Vision Statement of the Department

1. To survey and create the archival source for study of Karnataka's ancient history and archaeology.
2. Focus on hitherto neglected areas of research and take them up on priority basis.
3. To train future scholars in this area.

3. Mission Statement of the Department

1. Carry out exploration and excavation using latest methodology and technology.
2. To drive the point that it is important to have awareness about value of historical monuments through training and awareness programs.
3. Create avenues for exchanging field notes between scholars to reach new vistas in both pure research as well as applied research in the field.

4. Uniqueness of the Department

Department has been effective in being in touch with everyone from tourist guides to common people in communicating the importance of historical and archaeological monuments and its preservation for future generation through various programs meant for the purpose. One of the ambitious projects of the department is a project documenting comprehensive details of temples in each district in the name Karnataka Temples Cyclopaedia Series. So far 9 volumes pertaining to 9 districts have come out. Apart from this the department has also conducted focused studies of certain places to bring out monographs which serve as both source as well as analytical perspective on the history.

13. Best Practices of the Department

1. Archaeological and local history documentation and publication.
2. Interaction with stakeholder regarding conserving and preserving the archaeological sources and monuments.
3. Dept. every year conducting seminar, workshop, symposium on History and Archaeology and culture.
4. Dept. weekly organising Vaarada Matu programme and this programme are successfully running benefiting the students and Researcher.

5. Focused as well as mega surveys in terms of research.

14. Future plans of the Department

1. The Department proposes to carryout regular village-to-village archaeological explorations to document the archaeological wealth. Similar works though are being carried out by different agencies, full justice is not being done and hence, the Department proposes to conduct such explorations on theme oriented basis and complete in the stipulated time.
2. Conducting at least one refresher Workshops on History, Archaeology ,Tourism and cultural aspects for Research Scholars and college teachers working in University.
3. Designed to prepare resource materials in the form of books, reading materials & Journals for their comprehension and articles from journals /library books for making them prepare themselves for seminars/workshops/ group discussions etc.
4. The Department proposes to extend its activities by commencing a Facilitation Centre for Archaeological Heritage sites and Monuments like the Hampi and Badami, where the University and its satellite campus are situated. Through this Facilitation Centre, the Department proposes to cater to the needs of common man, researcher, tourists and others who can get all the information needed by them. In order to achieve this, all basic primary and secondary source materials in different media would be acquired and placed for the utility of the cross section of the society. The Department is already catering to such needs in a small way especially with regard to the World Heritage site Vijayanagara. It has carried out quite a few research projects on Vijayanagara Empire.
5. The department proposes RESEARCH, INNOVATION and EXTENSION programm on History, Archaeology ,Tourism and cultural aspects.
